

Maps, Atlases, & Geography

Boston Redevelopment Authority's Maps and Aerial Photographs (the Boston Atlas)

<http://www.cityofboston.gov/bra/maps/maps.asp>

http://www.mapjunction.com/places/Boston_BRA/main.pl?ht=768

Includes a mapping application which provides data from many city agencies, including the Assessing Department and the Boston Water and Sewer Commission. Includes the ability to create overlays based on streets, street names, building footprints, black and white ortho photos and open spaces.

City of Cambridge

<http://www.cambridgema.gov/GIS/FindMapAtlas.cfm>

GIS maps.

ESRI

<http://www.esri.com/data/download/index.html>

Geographic data sets.

Geography Network (geographic content from organizations around the world)

<http://www.geographynetwork.com/>

Geography Network Free Resources

<http://www.geographynetwork.com/freeresources.html>

Harvard Map Collection

<http://hcl.harvard.edu/maps/>

The Map Collection is accessible through the west door of Lamont Library, which connects to Pusey Library.

Google Satellite Maps

<http://maps.google.com/>

To access this view, click "Satellite" at the top right corner of the Google Maps page. You can also choose the hybrid view, which superimposes map data—including streets, street names, and landmarks—over satellite images.

Massachusetts Electronic Atlas

<http://peters.hul.harvard.edu:8080/HGL/jsp/HGL.jsp>

250 data layers about the state. Topics such as mortality, tourism, crime, and education are covered.

MIT/MassGIS Digital Orthophoto Project

<http://ortho.mit.edu/nsdi/>

Eastern Massachusetts.

National Geographic MapMachine

<http://www.nationalgeographic.com/maps/>

Dynamic maps from leading data publishers.

Maps, Atlases, & Geography

TerraServer

<http://www.terraserver.com/search/search.asp>

Satellite imagery. Images can be previewed online but need to be purchased for high resolution quality.

U.S. Gazetteer

<http://www.census.gov/cgi-bin/gazetteer>

Census data from the 1990 Census

U.S.G.S. National Mapping Information

<http://geography.usgs.gov/>

Geographic data sets.